

Just To Let You Know:

- All timings are approximate
- As you enter the space, the performers will be moving around and playing music and may say hello
- There are a couple of moments in the show where an actor speaks directly to the audience - but you don't need to reply
- There will be moments where you are invited to join in the singing - but you don't have to!
- There is music throughout the show - but this map will tell you when the louder bits of music and song are, as well as other moments you might want to know about (for example when there might be an emotional scene or when there is significant movement on stage)
